

Philosophy of Social Science Roundtable 2017

University of British Columbia, Vancouver, May 19-20

Call for Papers

We welcome individual papers or symposia on any topic in the philosophy of social sciences. For the 2017 Roundtable, we especially encourage contributions related to social norms and values, and their implications for social science and its applications. We will assemble a program of workshop-format sessions so that intensive discussion can be the focus of the meeting.

Special Issue of Philosophy of the Social Sciences

Selected presenters will be invited to submit papers to a special issue of Philosophy of the Social Sciences.

Keynote Speaker

Cristina Bicchieri, S. J. Patterson Harvie
Professor of Social Thought and Comparative Ethics, University of Pennsylvania.

Submissions

Submissions should be in the form of extended abstracts (500 words for individual papers, 1,000 words for symposia) through EasyChair. Deadline: January 30, 2017.

Program Chairs

Margaret Schabas (margaret.schabas@ubc.ca)
